

SUBJECT LINE: "Smart Students Go to Community Colleges"

Hello [Student's Name],

"Smart Students Go to Community Colleges" – that's the theme of this year's national Community College Month. It's also a fact here at ACM: We have smart, hard-working, savvy, creative, talented, and brilliant learners at our small college. Thank you for being one of them.

Help really is for everyone.

Every student can benefit from extra help at this point in the semester. Please take advantage of resources that may help improve your college experience, your outlook, and even your life overall:

- Learning Commons for services like Study Labs, in-person and online tutoring, the RAWC, and more.
- Holistic Mental Health Network options for on-site mental health counseling and group activities, among others.
- Academic Access & Disability Resources for accommodations, referrals, and advising.
- The Pantry for fresh produce, nonperishable food, hygiene items, and school supplies.
- Year-end activities and sporting events for meaningful interactions and mental breaks from your studies.
- Us! All of us are here to help you. You can always email info@allegany.edu or stop by our Welcome Center.

Make your way.

If you're continuing with us, select and register for classes as soon as possible to make a schedule that works for you. Registration is open for summer session classes (full-term or shorter A and B terms) and the fall semester. To meet with an advisor or a transfer advising specialist, contact Tiffany Shirey, advising generalist, at 301-784-5198. You can also email admreg@allegany.edu. Walk-in appointments are also available in the Advising Center in College Center or by visiting the Student Services Office at the Bedford County Campus.

Wishing you the best,

Dr. Cynthia Bambara
